

Colorado Withholding Worksheet for Employers

This worksheet prescribes the method for employers to calculate the required Colorado wage withholding. This calculation is based on an employee’s withholding certificate, which is either IRS form W-4 or Colorado form DR 0004. A new employee must submit the current version of form W-4, which is available at IRS.gov. An employee also has the option to submit form DR 0004.

Employers must use the calculation in this worksheet according to the following rules.

1. If an employee submits a DR 0004, use the amounts on that form, including an amount of zero, as instructed in Step 2.
2. If an employee submits only a W-4 without a DR 0004, complete Step 2a based on the expected filing status from the W-4, unless they claim to be exempt.
3. If an employee submits only a W-4 and claims to be exempt, see Part 1 of the Colorado Wage Withholding Tax Guide for instructions. Unless the Department adjusts the exemption claim, do not complete this calculation, and use a withholding amount of zero.

4. If an employee does not submit a W-4 or DR 0004, complete Step 2a as if they submitted a W-4 with an expected filing status of “single,” and enter zero on Step 2e.

A withholding certificate remains in effect until the employee submits a new certificate or the Department adjusts their withholding. An employee may submit a new certificate at any time during their employment, and a new certificate revokes and replaces any prior certificate. Therefore, a new W-4 without a new DR 0004 will revoke any prior DR 0004 or any request for additional withholding made prior to 2022.

Frequently Asked Questions About Colorado Withholding Tax

- Question: Is there a separate Colorado form similar to the federal form W-4 for employees?
Answer: Yes, an employee may complete Colorado form DR 0004, but it is not required. If an employee completes a DR 0004, you must calculate withholding based on the amounts the employee entered. If an employee does not complete a DR 0004, you must use the appropriate amount based on the employee's IRS form W-4, as noted in the worksheet above.
- Question: Should I submit a listing of individual employees with my form DR 1094, Wage Withholding Tax Return?
Answer: No. Do not submit a listing of individual employees with your DR 1094. You will submit this information on the W-2s filed with your form DR 1093, Annual Transmittal of State W-2 Forms.
- Question: What determines whether a return or payment is late?
Answer: A return or payment is deemed delinquent if the postmark is after its due date. If submitted by mail, the postmark is the official postage cancellation mark that is affixed on the envelope. If submitted electronically, the postmark is generally the date the payment is requested to be made or the Department receives the return, up to 11:59 P.M. Mountain Time. However, a request for an ACH credit payment that is not on a business day or is after the originating financial institution's cut-off time is deemed made on the following business day.
- Question: If I make a withholding tax payment by EFT, do I need to also file a form DR 1094, Wage Withholding Tax Return, through Revenue Online or on paper?
Answer: No. The EFT withholding payment satisfies the filing requirement. Filing a return in addition to the payment may result in an erroneous bill.
- Question: How do I use Secure Messaging in my Revenue Online Account?
Answer: First, create your Login ID and Password at Colorado.gov/RevenueOnline. For instructions, see the "Help" link (the question mark) at the top of the Revenue Online home page.
- Question: How do EFT filers pay a notice of deficiency?
Answer: Payment for a notice of deficiency for wage withholding tax, penalty, and interest can be remitted via EFT. If necessary, use the tax type code 01130.
- Question: Can I opt to file my withholding taxes by EFT even if I don't collect $50,000 in withholding taxes annually?
Answer: Yes, the department encourages it. For more information, go to Tax.Colorado.gov/Electronic-Funds-Transfer.
- Question: Are there any related forms that I must provide to my employees?
Answer: All Colorado resident employees must receive the Notice of Federal and State Refundable Tax Credits (DR 0995) along with their annual W-2 Wage and Tax Statement.
